Postgraduate Student Orientation 2009-10

Lifelong learning implies continuous pursuit of knowledge throughout one's life. New students with outstanding past academic achievements continue their studies at CUHK. Being oriented at CUHK is the first step for new postgraduate students to achieve fruitful postgraduate life.

The first session of the Orientation for new postgraduate research students was successfully held on August 4-5, 2009. They familiarized themselves with services and policies at CUHK, and received tips on achieving successful postgraduate studies during the 1.5-day orientation programme. The second session of the Orientation for new postgraduate taught students will be held on September 1-2, 2009. Students with different cultural and personal backgrounds would grasp this opportunity to meet people and make friends. Let's give our warmest welcome to these new students!

Inauguration Ceremony for Undergraduates 2009

The University Inauguration Ceremony for Undergraduates 2009 will be held on September 7, 2009 at 10:30 a.m. at Sir Run Run Shaw Hall. The Ceremony aims to welcome all freshmen and give them a comprehensive overview of the University. These freshmen will also meet their teachers in the tea reception to be hosted by respective Faculty Deans afterwards.

New Look of University Bookstore

The University Bookstore has re-opened on August 2, 2009 after a major renovation. The new interior environment has greatly enhanced the bookstore atmosphere to serving not only as a book outlet but also as a comfortable reading zone on campus for the university community. Being installed with a message board especially dedicated to the users, the University bookstore will also regularly host book exhibitions and promotion displays on different academic subjects relevant to your studies. Watch this space!

Informal Study Area at Esther Lee Building

Towards the "3+3+4" academic system, a number of building construction projects is going to be launched in full swing this year. There will be several large-scale construction works near Chung Chi Campus. The tranquil environment on campus will more or less be affected. The University has, therefore, arranged an informal study area for students' studying purposes. The first provisional informal study area will be set up on the 1st floor foyer of Esther Lee Building and commencing operations on September 1, 2009. The foyer was used to be a tea reception zone for various functions and assemblies. It is also connected to an outdoor roof garden

The informal study area will be equipped with different types and seating plan of tables and chairs. Electrical outlets and wireless Internet facilities for portable computers will be provided, as well as beverage vending machines. Students can have free access to the study area. The opening hours are as follows:

Monday to Friday	8:00 a.m.– 9:30 p.m.
Saturday	9:00 a.m.– 6:00 p.m.
Sunday	closed
University Function	closed with prior notice

The regulations for use of this temporary informal study area are set out below:

1. Please keep quiet and keep the area clean and tidy.
2. No food or alcoholic drinks is allowed.
3. Please do not remove any furniture out of this area and return it to original position after use.
4. Ensure no personal belongings unattended and left in the area.
5. Do not lie on the tables or chairs.
6. Other activities or functions in this area are strictly prohibited.

To welcome this year's non-local year-one undergraduates and help them better familiarize with the life and academic system here, multi-faceted orientation camps are tailor-made for these new students. The orientation programmes will provide them with advice on course selection, workshop on Hong Kong cultures, introduction to University policies and services and a variety of group activities. Hopefully the events will mark the start of the students' fruitful and enjoyable university life at CUHK!
